Eight dashed-line boxes for writing, each corresponding to a beatitude. The boxes are colored as follows: red, purple, green, orange, yellow, blue, pink, and cyan.

Each week, review the Beatitude that corresponds to the Sunday school lesson. Then, ask your child to cut and paste the matching “what does it mean” message to the right.

Be the last of all, serve others before yourself, share all.

Consider well the people you have lost, the things you have not done well, and the things you long for.

Be slow to anger, be humble.

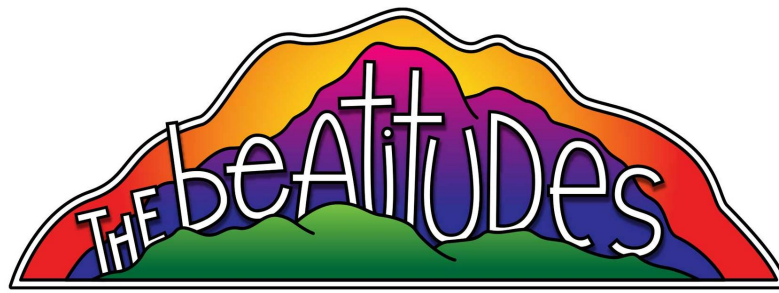

Stand for what is right, seek peace and justice, and help others find peace.

Strive to do the right thing, show forgiveness and compassion.

Look at things from the eyes of others and see them the way God sees them.

Live in peace with others and help to restore peace where it is broken.

Don't stop doing the right thing, even if its not popular.
